Athletic Hall of Fame

Amie Flowers - Basketball, Softball

Amie Flowers BA '01 starred in softball from 1996-2000 and was a standout in basketball from 1996-98. In softball, she earned All-Division III West Region and All-Central Region honors. She is the softball program's all-time leader in doubles (52) and hit by pitch (38) and owns single-season records for slugging percentage (.929), games played and games started (51), doubles (17), and hit by pitch (12). In basketball, Flowers was the team MVP in 1996-97.

Becky Hull - Coach, Volleyball, Basketball

Becky Hull was a long-time coach for the Ravens and an ambassador for women's athletics. She coached the women's volleyball team from 1979 to 1991, winning 247 matches. She coached women's basketball from 1979 to 1984 and served as associate athletic director at AU from 1985 to 2005. She taught in the School of Nursing and Kinesiology and served as chair of the Department of Kinesiology before her retirement from the university.

Wayne Gordon - Meritorious Service

Wayne Gordon is being inducted into the Athletic Hall of Fame for his meritorious service to AU athletics. Gordon was instrumental in gaining funding for the entrance of Macholtz Stadium and made contributions to the Kardatzke Wellness Center. He is also a member of Charlie's Gang, an alumni group striving to better AU athletics. Gordon served the university as an athletic trainer in the 1960s.

Neal Tuminski - Wrestling

Neal Tuminski BA '73 was a wrestling star at Anderson. A 1973 graduate, he won the Little State Championships in 1973 and participated in the NAIA Championships four times, winning three matches in the 1973 event.

1966 Golf Team

The 1966 men's golf team at AU advanced to the NAIA Championships. They won the NAIA District 21 Championship along with the Hoosier Conference title that season. The conference title ended a five-year reign by Hanover. AU beat the defending champions by one stroke. It was Anderson's first conference title since 1948. Harry Forse coached the team, whose players included Lou Gerig, Barry Hippensteel, Guy Perry, Dave Selent, and Jim Tanner.

The Anderson University Athletic Hall of Fame was started in 1997 by former Athletic Director Barrett Bates. It was set up to recognize former Raven athletes, coaches, and contributors (meritorious service) to AU athletics. If you would like to nominate a former Raven athlete, coach, or contributor for future inductions, email Athletic Director Marcie Taylor at mjtaylor@anderson.edu.

AU's 5th Annual Alumni Career Fair to be held during Homecoming week

The Career Development Center (CDC) is excited to host, in conjunction with the Alumni Office, the Alumni Career Fair. This fair is ONLY for AU alumni and current students, so it is a great way to get connected to fellow AU graduates.

For Employers:

- Easy and cost-effective way to reach talented candidates from your alma mater
- Build your organization's visibility and brand on AU's campus
- Check out what is new in AU's classrooms

For Job Seekers

- Network with fellow AU grads
- Meet potential employers face-to-face
- Learn what employers are looking for from today's candidates
- Find new professional opportunities
- Gain experience interacting with employers to sharpen interviewing skills

Centennial book signing and reception

Anderson University will host a reception during homecoming weekend to celebrate the recent publication of "The Desk as Altar: The Centennial History of Anderson University," written by Professor Emeritus Merle D. Strege. The reception, which will be held in York Performance Hall on Saturday October 8 at 4 p.m., will feature a reading from Professor Deborah Miller Fox and a book signing by Strege.

The book chronicles the relationship between the Church of God (Anderson) and Anderson University over the first century of the university's life. The centennial history highlights the leaders of AU throughout its history, many of whom have lit the path for current students and faculty.

Lighting the Path

This fall, Anderson University will celebrate Homecoming (October 7-8) with the centennial theme, “Lighting the Path.” The weekend will signal the start of the university’s centennial celebration. The centennial theme is woven into the fabric of AU, carrying forward the 50th anniversary theme of “Toward the Light” and the 75th anniversary theme of “Kindle the Flame.” The word “path” visually represents the twists and curves of the journey of spiritual and educational growth students find on the AU campus.

The centennial celebration will involve many special events. Starting Oct. 2016 and continuing through Oct. 2017, chapel will include a centennial speaker series of eight alumni from different generations and different vocations. Also, a special Truth, Faith, and Service Series will be presented featuring Randy Lewis, businessman, disability employment advocate, and author; Lauren Winner, historian, author, and assistant professor of Christian Spirituality at Duke Divinity School; and Scott Russell Sanders, American novelist, essayist and former distinguished professor of English at Indiana University. Lastly, the Anderson Symphony Orchestra, conducted by Richard Sowers, will perform a Centennial Celebration Concert in the spring. Details about these centennial events and more can be found at anderson.edu/100.

Anderson University holds a special place in the hearts of more than 26,000 alumni nationwide. It is here where many alumni discovered a vocational calling. And it is here where the path of many generations of students were lit with the lamps of truth, faith, and service.

During the special days of Homecoming, we highlight the traditions and the heritage of AU. Join us as we celebrate the past and look toward the future.

From the president

I know many of you look forward to the Homecoming celebration each year. Even if you’re not able to attend, it’s fun to catch up with people through social media and the recap in Signatures. This year, Homecoming is especially exciting as we will be kicking off our centennial celebration. Anderson Bible Training School opened in 1917, and

Anderson University is celebrating its first century of service.

Our theme for the centennial is “Lighting the Path.” This is our campus theme for chapel/convocation and is woven into many of our activities this year. It also raises a key question for all of us: Who and what lights your path? Some of you may be thinking of a professor, supervisor at a campus job, or classmate who shaped your time at AU — and your life. Homecoming is about reconnecting with those people who have been lights for us and reminiscing about the people and events that have been a part of AU’s rich history.

I hope to see you at Homecoming, but I hope you’ll also keep up with us through the web and social media. This year, we’ll be using #LightingthePath to tag centennial events. We also have a special Lighting the Path section of the website, which you can visit at anderson.edu/100. Throughout the year, we’ll share 100-second Stories, Throwback Thursdays, and Fun Facts about AU. We’ll hear from nationally known speakers and learn from AU alumni. We’ll reflect on AU’s history, and we’ll look ahead to our second century of service. And, it all starts at Homecoming 2016. See you there!

John S. Pistole, President
