

Quality

A quality MBA program that is doable

Graduate satisfaction

According to alumni surveys, more than 95% of the graduates are pleased they chose the Anderson University MBA Program and say they would recommend the program to a friend.

Specialized accreditation

Anderson University's MBA is one of a select few graduate programs in the United States to earn specialized, national accreditation from the Accreditation Council for Business Schools and Programs (ACBSP).

Experienced faculty

Classes in the Anderson University MBA program are taught by experienced, full-time faculty who remain active in research and consulting.

Respected by employers

The MBA offered through the Falls School of Business is highly respected among CEOs, presidents, and organizational leaders for its innovativeness and practical application to today's business world.

Relevant curriculum

The curriculum is designed so that students develop skills and practical experiences that are directly applicable in the job market. Furthermore, students can receive specialized focus by pursuing a concentration.

Classroom diversity

Students in the Anderson University MBA program bring a variety of cultural backgrounds, experience, and education to the classroom, creating a dynamic environment where students learn from each other.

Doable

A doable MBA program of high quality

Built-in support group

Students take the majority of their classes with the same core group of individuals. This creates a rare blending of accountability, teamwork, and camaraderie among the cohort group.

Multiple learning locations

Anderson University MBA classes are offered in Anderson and at multiple locations in the Indianapolis area. The entire program can be completed at any location.

Convenient schedules

Semester-long classes meet primarily once a week in the evening. Most students take two courses per semester, with the classes meeting back-to-back on the same night.

Manageable program length

The Anderson University MBA curriculum is structured so that working professionals can earn their degree in as few as 22 months.

Effective administrative assistance

The MBA administrative office assists individuals through the admissions process, manages the scheduling activities for students, and provides individualized attention throughout the program.

Strong alumni connections

With more than 1,500 MBA graduates — the majority living in central Indiana — an MBA alumni chapter is focused on creating valuable networking, educational, and social opportunities.
